

GOOD PRACTICE

Title of the practice

Make working cross border easier by employing somebody from your neighbouring country

Detailed description of the practice

In 2008 Waterschap Roer en Overmaas employed a hydrologist from Germany. This made communication with our German counterparts much easier and it gave more feeling with the organization of water management across the border.

Evidence of success

Since 2008 the cooperation in the field of hydrology with Germany has improved. Communication is much easier and it is easier to find the right people for the right things.

Location of the practice
